Dr. Church Resigns, Accepts New Position; Former Dean Is Appointed As President

Todd H. Bullard Assumes Duties, Gets Doctorate

Dr. Todd H. Bullard, dean of faculty and professor of political science at Potomac State College since last September, has been named to succeed Dr. E. E. Church as president of the two-year institution.

The appointment became effective August 1 following an announcement by the West Virginia University Board of Governors.

Bullard, 33, who received his Ph.D. in political science last month from the University of Pittsburgh, is a native of Wheeling and prior to coming to Keyser had served two years as director of WVU's Parkersburg Branch, where he also taught political science as an assistant professor.

President Bullard was graduated from Triadelphia High School in 1949 and entered Bethany College. After one year, he enrolled at West Liberty State College and received his A. B. degree in history in 1953. Following brief service as Director of Education at West Liberty State College in Moundsville, Bullard entered the Army and served from 1953 to 1955 with service in Europe. He enrolled at WVU in 1955 and received his M. A. degree from that institution in 1956.

During the next year Bullard worked as a research assistant in the Bureau for Government Research at WVU and also as assistant director of the West Virginia League of Municipalities. In 1957 he entered Pitt to begin work on his doctorate completing most of the requirements by 1959.

Former Head of PSC Takes New Charleston Job

Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State College since July 1, 1936, recently resigned that post to become executive secretary of the West Virginia Commission on Higher Education with headquarters in Charleston.

Announcement was made during the summer meeting of the nine-member body at Oglebay Park with the appointment of President Church becoming effective August 1.

The commission was created under the provisions of the Educational Facilities Act, passed by Congress in December 1963 and requiring that each state have a commission. Since West Virginia had none, one was created by the 1964 session of the State Legislature.

Members include the Rev. T. Jefferson Monroe, chairman; Charles H. Brown, Kingwood; Raymond Brewster, Huntington; Dr. Richard E. Shearer, president of Alcorn-Broaddus College; Dr. Samuel Baskerville, Charleston; Forrest H. Kirkpatrick, Wheeling; Dr. Leonard Riggleman, president of Morris Harvey College; Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield; and Bishop Joseph D. Hodges, Wheeling.

Mrs. Church, the former Katharine Moore, of Fairmont and a previous music instructor at Potomac State College, resigned her position as music teacher at Keyser High School in order to accompany her husband to Charleston.

Pictured above is an architect's sketch of the proposed Auditorium and Fine Arts Building as submitted to officials of Potomac State College by Robert J. Bennett, Architect, Morgantown.

President Todd H. Bullard said that construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in the spring of 1965 on the multi-purpose building which will be located at the corner of Arnold and B Streets near the entrance to the Arcadia Heights section.

The auditorium will accommodate approximately 1,000 persons in the main section and the building provides complete facilities for the Department of Music and Art, facilities for the College Players, dressing rooms, and a complete stage.

As shown in the photograph, the wing to the right will be utilized by the music department while the opposite wing will house the Keyser Area's Appalachian Center of West Virginia University. The sub-floor will also be used by the music department.

The main auditorium will be equipped with partitions which may be used to divide the space into individual rooms for lectures or conferences and at the same time will provide the entire Keyser area with first-class auditorium facilities.

Remodeling Job In Administration Bldg. To Provide Offices, Classrooms

Renovations continue to be made in the physical plant of Potomac State College as the institution tries to keep pace with increased enrollments and an effort to provide better facilities for both faculty members and the student body.

During the past summer another remodeling job has been undertaken by Ray C. Coffman Contractors in the basement floor of the Administration Building which housed the old auditorium and previously the gymnasium.

The space is being renovated to provide for two large classrooms and four offices. Eventually, the present stage area will be changed to provide for a lounge and conference-seminar rooms. It is hoped that the current project will be completed by about October 15.

Changes have also been noted in the offices of the Dean and Registrar. The large classroom which once housed the library annex is being remodeled to provide a new office for the Dean and his previous office will be occupied by the Registrar. A portion of the previous classroom and the Registrar's office is being parti-tioned so as to provide adequate space for the secretary to the dean and the secretary to the registrar. A door leading from the main entrance to the finance office has also been constructed.

As the midst of the renovation hit its peak the college was privileged to welcome back to the campus Mr. W. D. Anthony, the former registrar, who is now living in Richmond. He was accompanied by his son, Bill, who is an announcer for news and weather at a radio station there and daughter Lucile, who is employed at Union Theological Seminary.

President Todd H. Bullard said Mr. Anthony expressed both his surprise and pleasure at the many changes which have taken place on the campus since he left.

See you at HOMECOMING.

He came to Potomac State as successor to the late Dean K. S. McKee.

President Bullard is a member of the Rotary Club and for the past year has been a member of the West Virginia Association of Academic Deans and the Board of Directors of the Potomac State College Alumni Foundation. He and Mrs. Bullard are the parents of three children.

Several Changes Made In Faculty, Staff; Capt. Karner, John Fox Leave

Several changes in the faculty and administration for the 1964-65 school term have been announced by President Todd H. Bullard.

Capt. Frederick S. Karner, PMS of the Military Department, ended four years of service in August and left for a three-year tour as a Logistical Staff Officer with Army Headquarters, Frankfurt, Germany. Frankfurt is the headquarters for the Northern Area Command and V Corps.

Also resigning was John D. Fox, physical education instructor and baseball coach at Potomac State since 1957. He left to accept a post at Glassboro (N.J.) State College, a four-year institution.

Capt. Karner will be succeeded by Maj. Edgar V. Friend Jr. as PMS. Maj. Friend, the 34-year-old son of Dr. Edgar V. Friend, Middletown, N. Y., entered the Army in June of 1951. He has served in various parts of the U. S. and overseas in Germany and Turkey, his last assignment being with the U. S. Logistics Group in Istanbul. He is married and the father of three children.

Named to succeed Coach Fox is Larry G. Bolyard, a native of Aurora in Preston County, who has been appointed instructor in physical education and head baseball coach.

Bolyard is a graduate of Aurora

High School, Shepherd College, and West Virginia University where he received his M.S. in physical education in 1962. He was named the most outstanding athlete at Shepherd College in 1957.

Married, and the father of two children, Bolyard comes to Potomac State from Rappahannock County High School in Washington, Va., where he taught physical education, coached baseball, and served as assistant principal. His brother, Kent Bolyard, is already a member of the PSC faculty, and another brother, Marvin (Bucky) Bolyard, is a former basketball great at West Virginia University.

Capt. Karner was appointed PMS in August of 1962 upon the departure of Maj. Thomas E. McBride. He had been assistant PMS since coming to Potomac State in 1960 after a previous tour as an infantry advisor to an Imperial Iranian Army Division in Meshad, Iran.

Fox, who has just completed his 11th year at Potomac State coached baseball for seven seasons since there was no team in 1959. His teams compiled an overall chart of 71 wins, 43 losses, and three ties.

At Glassboro College he will be an instructor in the physical education program, head tennis coach and assistant basketball coach, handling the Jayvee team.

Glassboro has an enrollment of 3,500 students and there will be seven men and six women in the physical education department.

President Bullard has also announced the appointment of Miss Helen Martina as secretary to the registrar. Miss Martina, a recent graduate of Potomac State College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Martina, Keyser, and a graduate of Keyser High School.

Assuming duties as switchboard operator and a general secretary in the Administration Building is Miss Frances Shallis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Shallis, S. Water St. She replaces Mrs. John I. Rogers, the former Miss Judith Jose. Miss Shallis is a 1964 graduate of Keyser High School.

The most recent addition to the college faculty is Capt. John R. Tracy, a native of Missouri, who has been named to replace Capt. Paul Rofrano, who has resigned from the service and is now working with the Ford Motor Company in the vicinity of New York City. Capt. Tracy comes to Potomac State following a tour of duty with the Army in Korea.

He was graduated from Kansas State College, Pittsburg, Kans., in 1955 and entered the Army in September of that same year. His job in the Army is Assistant Professor of Military Science. He has served with commands in the US and Germany as well as in Korea. He is married and the father of one son.
